1. Recruitment and Joining

People Operations verifies the approved position, hiring documentation, reporting manager, joining date, and required onboarding plan before account provisioning.

2. Attendance

Employees are expected to follow their team's approved working schedule and record attendance through the designated system. Repeated attendance issues are handled by the manager and People Operations.

3. Probation

Managers review role expectations, learning progress, conduct, and performance during probation. The review outcome is documented in the employee record.

4. Performance

Performance reviews consider agreed objectives, quality of work, collaboration, customer impact, policy compliance, and learning progress. Employees may request clarification on documented feedback.

5. Remote Work

Remote work requires manager approval where applicable. Employees must use secure networks, approved devices, and private workspaces when handling confidential information.

6. Learning

Mandatory company training must be completed by the assigned due date. Managers may assign additional training when a role, policy, process, or performance gap requires it.

7. Separation

Access is removed according to the offboarding checklist. Company assets and information must be returned, and outstanding access or customer responsibilities must be transferred.
